DEDICATION

We, the students of St. Joseph College, in profound respect and sincere appreciation towards the Marianists, our teachers, lovingly dedicate our yearbook to the memory of the Very Reverend William Joseph Chaminade.

January 22, 1950 marked the centenary of the death of a great servant of God, the Very Reverend William Joseph Chaminade, Founder of the Society of Mary, whose members are known as Marianists.

Born on April 8, 1761, and ordained a priest in 1784, Father Chaminade soon found himself in the throes of the French Revolution. In the very shadow of the bloody guillotine he fearlessly performed his priestly duties until he was exiled in 1797. It was during his exile in Saragossa, Spain, at the shrine of Our Lady of the Pillar, that Father Chaminade was inspired with a plan to rechristianize his beloved France, then the whole world, through his sodality, under the patronage of the Virgin Mary. Shortly after his repatriation in 1800, he commenced his sodality activities. Almost two decades later he realized the foundation of the Daughters of Mary Immaculate, then that of the Society of Mary. Because God saw in him His just man who lived by faith and in filial piety towards Mary, in imitation of Our Lord's devotion to his Blessed Mother, Father Chaminade's works grew and prospered. On January 22, 1850, after a long life full of labors and merits, he was summoned to share the reward of all good and faithful servants of God.

Very Reverend William Joseph Chaminade, S. M.

Magnificat Anima

Mea Dominum

Heartiest felicitations to you, Brother Aloysius Soden, on the occasion of your Silver Jubilee as a Marianist! We, the students of St. Joseph College, rejoice with you, and join with you in thanking Almighty God for all the benefits he has showered on you during your twenty-five years as a member of the Society of Mary. How happy you must be to celebrate this anniversary in the service of youth, under the auspices of the August Mary!

As our Principal and instructor during the past four years you have labored indefatigably on our behalf. We are happy to assure you that your efforts have not been in vain. Your spirit of self-sacrifice has made a profound impression on every student and taught us all a lesson future years can never efface. Your patience with our shortcomings, your ready understanding of our problems, have offered us constant encouragement while we have been under your care. We feel privileged and delighted to be able to rejoice with you in your Silver Jubilee.

Both by hearsay and through personal association, we are well aware of your aversion to eulogies. A Silver Jubilee, however, comes but once in anyone's lifetime, and we cannot let pass this opportunity of your twenty-fifth anniversary as a Brother of Mary, to offer you these few words of sincere praise. We pray to God to grant you, if it please Him, many more fruitful years in the noble endeavor of Christian education in Japan or elsewhere.

Again, we congratulate you, dear Brother, on this felicitous occasion, and may God bless you always in your cherished vocation!

Te Deum

Laudamus

Fifty years is more than half the normal span of a man's life. Brother Albert Bletzacker, S.M., who is in his seventy-fifth year, has spent half a century in Japan, where he has devoted himself exclusively to the work of education. The students of Saint Joseph College cordially congratulate Brother Albert, the oldest member of the present faculty, upon his completing five decades of untiring service.

Brother Albert came to Japan in 1899 and was assigned to the "Kaisei," Star of the Sea School, in Nagasaki, where during forty years he served in the capacity of teacher-prefect. He has always been gifted with a great amount of energy, and this, coupled with his constant joy, has made him a man of great industry.

In 1940 he received his appointment for Saint Joseph College, with which he has been intimately associated ever since. Not all the students have classroom contacts with Brother Albert, but nearly all the students are served by him in his little stationery department, where he dispenses not only school supplies but also something of his own cheerfulness, which is much appreciated now and which will be cherished for a long time to come.

Despite his advanced age, Brother Albert carries almost a full-time teaching assignment, specializing in drawing in the eight grades of the elementary division.

The students are happy to devote these few words to Brother Albert, whom they again felicitate and whom they ask the Good Lord to bless and keep for many more years.

IN MEMORIAM

When Brother Paul Grosser left for France last November, although we all realized fully how very ill our beloved teacher must have been to leave Japan, we all hoped and prayed that the skilled care he would receive in his native country would restore him to good health, so that he might return to us once more. But, alas, this was not to be. From France, Brother Grosser set out on the longer journey to eternity from which there is no return.

It is hard to believe that we shall never see Brother Grosser again in this world; his memory is so fresh with all of us. So permeated is St. Joseph College with his spirit that we cannot run down any corridor without feeling that at the next turn we may find him shaking at us an admonitory finger, always belied by his kindly face. We cannot enter the chapel without hearing Brother Grosser singing the "Ecce Panis Angelorum." Nor can we enter our classrooms without imagining him there, ready to impart to us as much of his knowledge as we could absorb.

Brother Grosser had taught at St. Joseph's for ten years, with the added responsibility of being the vice-principal since 1946. All of us who have attended school while he taught at St. Joseph's have some particular cause to cherish his memory, for his time was well occupied with classes both in and out of school hours. Brother Grosser was a mathematician. With unmatched patience he would go over the minutest details of algebra or geometry until we understood them thoroughly. It was impossible not to like "math" after being taught by him, for his way of teaching was so stimulating. French too, which he taught in the High School, would turn into a subject both easy and fascinating, despite all its irregular verbs, with his magic touch. He was a true Frenchman, gay, kind, courteous, with a great love for his country. The countless intriguing French stories and droll French jokes he told us are something we shall treasure till the day we too shall leave this earth to join him in eternity. Above all, Brother Grosser was a musician, a generous musician, who never kept his music to himself but shared it with all around him. He not only taught singing to all of us at one time or another, but also graced the church services with his singing, and delighted the ears of the faithful. He played with great fervor on his melodious violin, pleasing those of us who stayed after school so often to hear him play.

The memory of Brother Paul Grosser will sweeten the future lives of students and graduates of St. Joseph College, as did his presence while he was with us in school. Requiescat in Pace!

IN MEMORIAM

Brother William V. Ambrose, S.M. was called to his reward on March 14, 1950 in Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii, at the age of 60, after a short period of illness.

From the very beginning of his lengthy assignment at Saint Joseph College, Brother William endeared himself to the students by his mellow understanding and cheerful service, which characterized him during nearly three decades in Yokohama.

His graphic stories of the grim days of the great earthquake and of the two years of the hejira of Saint Joseph College in Kobe will be long remembered by his students and his fellow-Brothers.

A man of many interests and many talents was Brother Ambrose. It was not at all surprising that his teaching assignment well-nigh ran the whole gamut of the courses taught in the elementary and secondary departments of the College. Besides his classroom duties, there were such cherished school-life activities as the sodality, scouting, mineralogy, athletics, art, and dramatics. His former sodalists readily recall his simple but consistent piety, and the scouts, mineralogists, and athletes, his enthusiastic yet sacrificing devotion. Above all, his artists, who often received from him one of his words of praise such as "Dandy" or "Five-cent masterpiece," and his actors, who lived their parts with him, remember that his whole heart, soul, and mind were engrossed when he found time to devote to the canvas and the stage. Despite his own "Nice-from-far but far-from-nice" appreciation of many of his own works of art, both his students and his friends marveled at his landscape creations and his stage scenery. A lover of God's wonderful creation, Brother William was ever at home in the great outdoors where the artist that he was never seemed to miss even the minutest miracle.

The students of Saint Joseph College who were members of his classes will cherish his memory for many reasons, not the least among which are the enduring impressions his patience, optimism, and benevolence have left upon their lives.

May his generous soul rest in peace!

Dear Graduates:

This is the 48th Graduating Class of the High School Department of St. Joseph College. Next year 1951 the College celebrates the 50th anniversary of its foundation. For 50 long years, through varied ups and downs, the Marianist Faculty of St. Joseph have consumed themselves and been consumed in the Christian education of youth. Some of them, as your former teachers, Brother Paul Grosser and Brother William Ambrose, have gone to a premature death while trying to stick at their posts. Others have lasted the long hours of the day and the heats thereof, as have the veterans of the present Faculty, men grown gray of hair but whose hearts leap yet with youth eternal. These Marianists have linked their names with St. Joseph College so closely that they seem to have become sharers of the constancy and the permanency of the institution itself. For as Whittier says of the bounding brook, so may it be said of educational institutes like St. Joseph: "Men may come and men may go; but I go on forever."

You are one group of graduates, one group of students who have come and gone—as far as the College records are concerned. Gone you may be; but your memory will still remain here at S.J.C.; and your deeds will prove the worth of the 50 years existence of our school. An educational institute is judged by its graduates. You can make or break the reputation of St. Joseph College. You will make it insofar as you follow the guiding principles you have learned here: religion, justice, charity, integrity, purity; you will break it insofar as you depart from these principles. The choice is yours; and we are sure that you will choose right. We have great hopes for the Graduating Class of 1950. In the past you have amply proved your worth; and we feel sure that you will not fail us in the future.

You are going out to face an atomic age, an age of marvelous scientific progress, but one of black unhappiness, smoldering social unrest, ranting rumors of war; an age so full of complications that your head will turn when you attempt to solve some of its problems. You should, however, always remember that you have the final answer to all these questions. This open-sesame to all the problems of life lies in the simple yet eternal words: Jesus Christ and Him forever; and the shortest, easiest, surest way to reach Him will ever be the Marianist way: His Immaculate Mother.

Just for Others

Dear Father, may I always be
Thy friend and no man's enemy,
And never judge those nearest
me,
But share my joy with others.

May I in love and kindness grow,
Be kind to every one I know,
And hold no hatred o'er my foe
But show true love to others.

May I be filled with thoughts
all pure,
And walk the narrow way secure
Where only good things can endure,
And show the way to others.

If e'er I see a soul in need.

May I, then, do him a good deed

And not be selfish, filled with greed,
But be a help to others.

And guide me so, I'll not compare

Myself with others anywhere

And think I'm better, help me there.

To see the good in others.

CLASS OFFICERS

Not every spirited 8th GRADE is privileged to graduate on the half century mark—1950. We boys of a versatile and sports-loving class are eagerly awaiting our CHANCE of a LIFETIME. Hoping to be the leaders of tomorrow we are ready today to make our contribution to a world seeking peace

The character and ideals we cherish are the strokes of two master artists, our homeroom teachers Brother Soden and Brother Grosser. In prayerful memory we still follow Brother Paul's leadership, determined to be the kind of men St. Joseph's is proud to call its own. Also before we say our last goodbye to the joyous days in the grammar school with new and better hopes for our Freshman year, we wish to thank our teachers for their helpful guidance. May God's blessing go with us and may the warm friendships we have cherished here at St. Joseph's be happy memories in the years to come!

An important school activity that means much to Saint Joseph College is our Sodality. But it means much more to those of us who belong to it. Why is this?—because the Sodality is an organization dedicated to the Blessed Virgin under the title of Her Immaculate Conception. Hence our objective is to live our consecration to Mary by our devotion to Her after the example of Our Lord, and by being Her apostles, as He was, in our daily Catholic life and in the various works of charity that we undertake for Her. Such is the Sodality's way of going "to Jesus through Mary" and assisting Mary in making Her Divine Son better known, loved, and served.

No wonder then that December 8, 1949, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, was a great day for many of us, since it was our rare privilege to consecrate ourselves to Mary on that day as Her special children. That is a consecration we shall bear throughout life, for "Once a Sodalist, always a Sodalist."

It was that consecration that prompted our various activities, as our Christmas party for the needy children, the volunteering of our services with the St. Vincent De Paul Society, the Chaminade Day program with its contest, play, Solemn Mass and breakfast, Our St. Joseph's Day program, the prayer programs according to Our Lady of Fatima's wishes, our Easter projects of helping the needy families with Easter baskets, and other activities.

We, who are Sodalists of S.J.C., wish to express our sincere appreciation for the privilege of our consecration to Mary. Although some of us are graduating from S.J.C.—yet—happy thought—we never graduate from the Sodality. Wherever we may be—away from our Alma Mater—let us keep loyal to our traditions!

SCOUTS—ONE AND ALL

We're off on a hike,
To see the sights,
To do as we like
Reaching the heights.

It's six in the morning and with anticipation we await the signal which will start us off on our summer camp. A train and a bus ride and now a walk along the bank of a tree-bordered lake reflecting the majestic form of peerless Mt. Fuji bring us to our camp site.

On a clearing at the edge of Lake Yamanaka, we begin the preliminary camp chores, pitching tents, gathering firewood, fetching fresh water, and unpacking our supplies.

Patches of mist rolling in over the lake from surrounding hills soon announce the approach of dusk. The cooks have the boys scurrying about at their wishes, while they themselves keep a steady vigil over the pots and pans on the camp fire. After a hurriedly prepared meal, a troop of very weary but happy scouts retire to their respective tents. Thus ends the initial day at camp.

The following days will be marked by the usual incidents contributing to the varied excitement and deep enjoyment of outdoor life. This is but one of the numerous adventures in Scouts' lives.

Scouting includes not only fun and enjoyment but also hard work, which can likewise be turned into the pleasure of accomplishing a "job well done."

Day by day throughout the world the significance of the Scout Oath and Law is fully realized by millions of faithful followers of the standard of this universally known builder of future good citizens.

Accidents and disorderly deportment on the way to and from school were becoming almost daily occurrences. In order to safeguard and to supervise those of the student body who commute and to insure safety around the school premises, a new organization, the Student Council, was formed in December 1949.

The members of this new group were chosen from among the boys and girls of the high school department who gladly volunteered their services on behalf of Saint Joseph's and of their schoolmates. Representatives of the upper grades of the elementary section also attend meetings. The Student Council was invested with the authority of the school, especially in the buses, trams, stations, and trains. According to a carefully conceived schedule, there are always members of the council responsible for the welfare and the good behavior of St. Joseph's students on the various means of transportation. A badge, designed by the councillors themselves, is now worn by the members.

Although this organization is still in its infancy, the members of the Council have taken their responsibility seriously and have received the cooperation of their fellow students.
